The Law Regulating Newspapers and Periodicals

1 Subscribers who do not give express notice to the contrary are considered as wishing to continue their subscriptions

If subscribers order the discontinuance of their papers, the publisher may continue to send them until all arrearages are paid the subscribers are responsible for all the numbers sent

3 If subscribers refuse to take their papers from the office to which they are directed, they are held responsible till they have settled their bills, and ordered the papers discontinued

4 The Courts have decided that a refusal to take a newspaper or periodical from the Post Office without notifying the publisher and the payment of all arrearages is prima facie evidence of fraud

5 Subscribers to newspapers and periodicals remove, are liable to pay so long as the paper or periodical may be sent to the residence of the party & the time subscription unless notice is sent of such removal to the publication office.

Has prolonged his stay at the BANGOR HOUSE, in this City, until December 15th.

Home Testimonials
and Certificates of patients residing in Bangor and vicinity.

My son has been under Dr Lighthill's care for a bout two weeks and has been effectually cured of discharge or running of matter from his ear, which troubled him for four years The discharge, which was of an offensive smell yielded to Dr Lighthill's effective treatment after a few applications
NORRIS H BRAGG.
Bangor Nov 7 1861

DOCTOR LIGHTHILL—Dear Sir Permit me to express my gratitude for the wonderful cure you have performed upon my ill fated daughter It was impossible to teach her how to speak as she could not hear any thing at all, hence she could only say the common natural sounds which she learned to say before she lost her hearing two years ago Now, after your treatment she articulates words and sentences with much correctness and propriety Wishing you the happiness and success you so richly merit, I sign myself Yours very gratefully,
Mrs J H GRAFFAM
Bangor Nov 2, 1861

The public will readily perceive that had this child not been attended to in time, she would have become a deaf mute, as pronounced upon in her case by all besides herself Fortunately for her parents, she was referred to Dr Lighthill for treatment, which has resulted in restoring her hearing and speech, and thus far in the cure, (one week) will be very hard to improve upon
Bangor Times, Nov 4th.

DEAR DR LIGHTHILL I have been afflicted with Catarrh in the worst form for six years, had constant discharges of mucus from my head into my throat, hardened pieces of the mucus would come from my throat and nostrils after a severe effort to raise them, which almost took away my breath I had severe pain on top of my head and above my nose; my food would not digest easy, at last, I was completely run down Physicians would call my disease bronchitis Last Spring, while Dr Lighthill was at Portland by the persuasion of my friends I placed myself under his care, and after taking the treatment was entirely cured and have remained well up to the present time WM E JAMES.
Portland, September 26th, 1861

DR LIGHTHILL—The Doctor, who has been eminently successful in treating diseases of the Eye and Ear as his patients are ready to testify, is still stopping at the Bangor House, and will remain in the city a short time long Among the many of his extraordinary cures, the Doctor has a certificate from Mr Joseph Bishop of Leeds are who is 80 years of age and has been deaf for thirty years He was completely restored to his hearing after being under the Doctor's treatment for a short time, and says he feels "like a young man again." Those afflicted will be the general calling on Dr. Lighthill —Bangor Whig, Oct 3, 1861

DR LIGHTHILL—Dear Sir In showing you a mother's gratitude for the cure you have effected upon my daughter, I can in no manner better justice to yourself or other agreeable benefit upon the similarly afflicted, than by annexing with these my heartfelt thanks—Short discourse of my daughter's condition before she came to you for a cure My daughter Chalpeda S. M. 15, was fifteen years of age, has been afflicted for a number of years, under from all the allopathic commencement of Catarrh, which ... of corrupted, foamy matter ... would run into ... was entered into by which ... was impossible for any one to ... be near her These periods were coming on once or twice a week sometimes even oftener I am happy to inform you, that I now consider my daughter entirely well I cannot too strongly recommend others not to despair of relief from Catarrh because their physicians did not succeed in curing them or pronounced their cases incurable, for truly she much was exactly the case with my daughter, and it was only after repeated recommendations from my friends that I was persuaded to place her under your care. Very respectfully yours,

BOOTS AND HOES
MADE ON
PLUMER'S PATENT ANATOMICAL LASTS!

[From J V C Smith, M D, formerly Mayor of Boston]
PLUMER'S PATENT BOOTS.

The Undersigned has worn a pair of these Plumer Boots, and feels grateful to the Inventor for the comfort derived from them The pleasant results of the use to every part of the under surface of the foot, is an important consideration which seems to have been entirely overlooked till Dr Plumer planned his Last and Boot upon truly scientific principles

These who have once had an opportunity to test the real advantages of these Boots only made Boots, will hardly be reconciled to wear an other
J V C SMITH
BOSTON, July 6, 1861

J C PLUMER, M D
Dear Sir I am greatly delighted with your newly invented boots which I have worn during the past winter and only wonder that the world should have been so stupid as not to have made the discovery half a century ago As I view them in the light of common sense and a moments reflection, cannot fail to see that your PATENT BOOTS AND SHOES are perfectly adapted to the foot (that word only pleases Nature's Mechanism) giving to every portion of it a full and equal support, and I am sure that those who once make trial of it, in having a well made pair go back to the old fashioned boots or shoes, which are so prolific of Corns, Bunions, and a thousand other troubles Your Patent Boots seem to be part and parcel of our Physical structure, supporting the foot firmly giving steadiness to the gait, and promoting human comfort to an extent degree especially to walking over rough surfaces
I wish I knew of some means by which I could make known to every man woman and child in Christendom the merits and importance of your invention.
Very truly yours,
MORRIS MATTSON, M D
56 Sturtevant Street
PORTLAND, July 12, 1860

DR PLUMER—
Dear Sir Having learned the principle upon which your "Anatomical Last" is made, I was favorably impressed as to its efficiency in relieving difficulty which all have experienced who have to walk considerably, viz severe pain in the feet after much walking After having worn the boots made upon the "Anatomical Last," I found my anticipations more than realized I can walk nearly all day without ever ceasing the above named difficulty in the least degree I also escaped the torturing pieces of nail projecting in my boots, for they were as easy at first as after they had been worn
Truly Yours, C H BURBANK, M D

AFFAIRS AT PORT ROYAL.—The following are extracts from letters to a gentleman of this city, from officers of the Maine 8th They are dated Hilton Head, Nov 14 h

* * * * * "I have more regard for the Navy than ever The rebels had full confidence in the security of this place. They had some forty or fifty large guns, well mounted as they believed, on both sides of the harbor, only four or five miles across, nearly opposite, and could reach across or nearly so, as we could see by their shots

The Wabash was the King of Troops, not only to their forts, but to the troops in rear, as she threw her shells from one to two miles over the fort into their troops, which caused them to run in all directions

* * * * * It is as warm here as June in Maine Thermometer on the 12th at noon 90 deg Oranges are very plenty, also sweet potatoes pea nuts, hogs, &c, and our troops are living high.

* * * * * Our encampment is situated in a large cotton field Our men go out daily and gather sweet potatoes oranges & Yesterday we got over 100 turkeys, which were very fat and nice, and as for cattle and horses we can get any amount This is a very valuable island, and there is a large amount of property on it, consisting of cotton, corn, sugar cane and many other things of value Within a short distance of us is a field of sweet potatoes, containing, I should think, sixty acres, and they come very handy now

Contrabands are coming in, and our folks keep them at work

Mason and Slidell.

James M Mason was born in Virginia in 1797 and was a remote descendant of George Mason who supported Charles I and fled from England after Cromwell defeated the loyalists, and a grandson of the famous George Mason of the revolution Mason was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania in 1818, commenced the practice of law in 1820, was elected to the Virginia House in 1826, to Congress in 1837, where he served one term, to the Senate in 1847, which body he left at the close of the last session. As a member of the Senate, Mason has been notorious, but never useful or respected He was violently pro slave by, was the author of the present odious Fugitive Slave Law, was conspicuous in bringering the Nebraska Bill through Congress and always loud mouthed in the advocacy of the extremest Pro Slavery doctrines, and notorious for the most insolent abuse of the North, and especially Northern workingmen, by that offensive manner towards all who came in contact with him which he brought from the plantation To these distinctions he has added, for a year or two past, that of wearing a coarse suit of grey clothing claimed to be home spun in Virginia, as indicative of his Southern views, but which was covered all over with Connecticut buttons—a sham and bravado characteristic of the man From the beginning he has been a Secessionist As long ago as 1850 he said, in a letter written for some public occasion in South Carolina, that "but one course remains for the South—immediate, absolute, and eternal separation" In March last he said, in the Senate, that he recognized "no allegiance to this Government"

John Slidell is a native of New York State, where he was born in 1793 His father was a tallow chandler Having been detected in an improper intimacy with a married lady, he escaped from the enraged husband by rolling down the conductor from an upper room and fled to New Orleans where he undertook the practice of Law He was successful in this profession, and rose to eminence, being a strong shed for cunning and impudence He was frequently sent to the State Legislature of Louisiana, afterwards to Congress, and in 1853 to the U S Senate — Just before the breaking out of the war with Mexico, President Polk sent him as Minister to Mexico In the discussion of the out come administration party with which he acted, no member's advice carried more weight than Slidell's During Buchanan's reign, he was the controlling spirit. In person Slidell is striking, of middle height, stout figure, and when full grown He is utterly unprincipled, and his political career in relation to slavery is a record of villainies that it would be hard to parallel In 1844, by the celebrated Plaquemine frauds, he defrauded the Whigs of the State of Louisiana and thereby defeated Henry Clay and made Polk President

KINDNESS TOWARDS MILCH COWS We find the following in Wilkes Spirit of the Times — "One of the greatest errors in overcoming cows that are unquiet while being milked is to beat, whip, kick and bowl at them This is generally done and the cow becomes afraid or angry, and instead of becoming better grows worse Milch cows cannot be whipped or terrified into standing quietly gently and patiently during milking They dislike to be milked, for they know that hard words and hard blows always attend the operation They dread to see the milker as the little urchin dreads his sea the birchen rod in the hand of an angry pedagogue when he expects to have it applied to his back A cow, kindly and properly treated, is pleased to see the milker gladly awaits his or her approach, and submits with pleasure to the operation of being milked Every one having experience with milch cows knows this to be true But the cow opposed to a change of milkers, she soon becomes attached to one person who performs the operation and does not willingly and freely give down her milk to another person hereafter, have one regular milker to each cow and bear in mind if you change milkers or at the expense of a loss of milk and of injury to the cow All animals appreciate kind treatment, and I resent abusive treatment See that those who milk them can control themselves govern their passions speak low and kindly under almost any provocation, and even the cows will learn that they are not going to be abused and will submit to the operation Milking should be performed at regular hours not varying fifteen minutes one day from the other

In Peace or War, on land or sea,
Our flag, the sign of the free,
Bright emblem of Columbia's glory!
Shall tell to coming years the story,
How, stout of heart, and strong of hand,
The patriots of our native land
Bore it, the nation's hope and life,
On tented field, 'mid fearful strife,
Still on, still through the sulphurous cloud
It broke in triumph, Treason's shroud!

The Total Number of Troops Raised in Maine.

We have obtained from Augusta, and copy below, an official statement just made by Adjutant General Hodsdon to the Governor and by him to be transmitted to the Secretary of War, as the total number of Volunteer troops thus far enlisted in this State for the service of the government in the suppression of rebellion. It is an interesting document, as showing the promptness and patriotism with which our people have furnished their quota of the immense army which has gone to the rescue of the Republic, and the zeal and energy of our State government in the enlistment, organization and equipment of our troops.

In addition to the above statement of troops sent out of the State, Capt. Wentworth's command of Artillery, aggregate of fifty-eight was stationed by order of War Department at Fort McClarey, for the protection of Portsmouth Navy Yard, from April 30th to July 9th, when it was superseded by "A" company Artillery, commanded by Capt Ira Andrews, whose command was reduced October 28th to an aggregate of forty, and mustered into U. In reference to the Regiments and Companies of Artillery mentioned as recruiting, being the 13th, 14th, and 15th of former, and 5 of latter, I would remark, that they will undoubtedly be filled to the maximum in three weeks, and will take the aggregate of troops furnished by Maine for the war 16,611, independent of those who have enlisted in other States

I have the honor to be, very respectfully,
Your obd't servant,
JOHN L. HODSDON, Adj't Gen'l.

The effect of the war thus far upon the business of the North has been far less injurious than was expected. Although some branches of industry are depressed, others are greatly stimulated and when we take into consideration the immense sums of money put into circulation by the war, nearly the whole being paid out to our own citizens, it may be doubted whether it has not been an actual benefit thus far to the general business of the country. A comparative statement shows that in 1861 over 1860, sixteen of our northern railroads have gained in earnings 13 per cent; that there is a gain of 50 per cent in the amount of grain delivered at Chicago during a corresponding period of the two years; that there is a gain of 40 per cent in the amount of grain delivered at the water by the Erie Canal during corresponding periods of the two years; that there will be a gain of nearly 600 per cent in the export of breadstuffs to England and the Continent for 1861 over 1860; that the gross exports of New York, exclusive of specie, for the corresponding periods give 40 per cent in favor of 1861; and the excess of the importations of gold over the exportation leaves in the latter part $63,474,000 for the first eight months of the year.

☞ The Boston Commercial Bulletin understands that the Kerosene Oil Works, at South Boston, had on their vats on September 1st over 500,000 gallons oil. The quantity daily manufactured at that time and since has averaged 8,000 gallons. At the present time the stock in vats is less than 150,000 gallons, which shows the increased demand for kerosene oil.

Cavalry Excursion Half Fare.

The first and most interesting excursion of the season will take place on Wednesday of this week. Arrangements have been made to run a train to Augusta, which will give persons an opportunity to see Col. Goddard's Regiment of Cavalry in full uniform on parade—see them train their horses, and go through the various manoeuvers of a regular cavalry battle, a most imposing and magnificent spectacle, and one which a large majority of the excursionists will never again have an opportunity of witnessing, as it is not probable that another regiment of cavalry will ever be raised in this State.

The showy uniforms of the soldiers, the equipments of the horses, and the grand cavalcade of twelve hundred, parading and drilling, is a sufficient attract on. But added to this here will be time to visit the State House, the United States Arsenal and grounds, where Col. Dow's Regiment are encamping, the Insane Asylum, and many other objects of interest, and return the same evening.

Col. Goddard has politely consented to drill his Regiment at an hour that will accommodate the excursionists, and give them free access to the grounds.

The fare to Augusta and back from Bangor, Hermon Pond, Carmel and Etna, is only $2,75; from Newport and East Newport $2; Pittsfield $1,75; Lincoln $1,60; Clinton $1,25 Return tickets good for Wednesday and Thursday.

The cars will leave Bangor Wednesday morning, at 7 1-2 o'clock, and returning will leave Augusta at 4 o'clock in the afternoon of Wednesday and Thursday.

Gen Meredyth Reese. The Tribune's Washington correspondent says it has been officially ascertained that the Government has now in the field, in camp and in process of formation, 600,000 volunteers, and the enlistments for the regular service are more numerous than heretofore.

Gov. Berry of New Hampshire, according to the Exeter News Letter, was very nearly taken prisoner by the rebels on the 5th inst. He went into Virginia, and beyond our pickets, and would have been in the hands of the Philistines, had not an Illinois boy espied the party after the Governor.

Local and Maine Items.

☞ We are prepared to execute all orders of all kinds at remarkably low prices and in the neatest style.

☞ Our Carriers are not allowed to sell papers while on their routes.

☞ Subscriptions for a less time than three months 50 cents per month.

News from Home. We will send the Weekly Courier, containing all the local and general news of the week, to the address of any soldier, one year for a dollar. There is nothing more acceptable to the soldier, when away from home, than a newspaper from their friends should see to it that the want is supplied.

The Tri-Weeklies. The Journal and Age at Augusta, will as usual publish tri-weeklies during the approaching session of the Legislature They will be issued upon alternate days, thus affording a daily report of proceedings. The session will be one of much more than usual interest, and those who desire to be posted should subscribe for one or both of the Legislative papers.

☞ In our notice of the presentation of a sword and belt to Lieut. Brown formerly of the Second Regiment, it should have been stated that the articles were given by Captain Carrol and Lieut Carey.

Capt. John P. Appleton. Previous to Capt. Appleton leaving Portland, he was presented with a sword by his young friends in this city.

Correction. The statement which we copied from another paper of the appointment of Capt. James T Pike to the command of the company recruited by Major Hayden at Eastport, is incorrect. No appointment has yet been made.

☞ We understand that the new propeller "William Tiobets" owned by Mr. Samuel Dealing of this city, has been purchased by the Government as a transport. The price paid is reported at $30,000.

Capture of a Bangor Vessel. The following statement is made in the marine reports of the Boston papers:

The Southern papers report that the brig Elsinore has been captured and taken into a Confederate port. The Elsinore is 288 tons register, built in 1853 in Bangor, Me., whence she hailed.

The Elsinore was bound to Cuba, from this port

The Elsinore was owned by Messrs. Stetson & Co., L. Nash, G. L. Boynton and T. J. Stewart of this city, Dr. B. Pierce of Waterville, Capt Whitmore of Hampden, and Capt. Partridge, the master. She was loaded a: Roberts's Steam mill, on the account of Portland parties.

☞ We learn from the Portland Advertiser that P. T. Barnum of New York will address the Sons of Temperance on the 3d of December, the anniversary of the Sons of Temperance in that city. It is understood also, that Colonel Neal Dow will take occasion to make a farewell address to his friends generally.

☞ Ship Milwaukie, at New York, reports, 19th inst., passed sch Clinton, of Bangor, waterlogged and abandoned; made all standing &c; blowing too heavy to board her, but there was evidently no one on board.

☞ The new Fort at Baltimore, built principally by the Maine 7th, it is suggested will be named Fort Marshall, in respect to the memory of Col. Thomas H Marshall.

☞ The Twelfth Maine Regiment, it will be seen, left Portland on Saturday, in the Forest City—the new steamer Constitution being unable to accommodate them properly with the troops already embarked, viz: The 20th Massachusetts, Col Johns, 1040 men; the 9th Connecticut Regiment, Col Cahill, over 900 men, and the 4th Massachusetts Battery of Light Artillery, Capt. Manning, in all about 2200 men.

There appears to have been some singular misunderstanding about the capacity of the new steamship. The Portland Advertiser says.

Eight companies of the regiment were put on board the steamer Union, for transportation to the Constitution, but on arriving there, their quarters in the ship had not been assigned to them, and as there was much confusion and no prospect of getting anything to eat before night they were ordered back to the wharf, where dinner was dealt out to them in one of the freight sheds. After the rations had been served out and eaten, all the regiment embarked on board the Union, and went down to the Constitution; but in the meantime, Captain Fletcher found that the steamer was full. After satisfying himself that the men would not have the accommodations which men were entitled to, Colonel Shepley addressed his command, saying that although the quarters provided for himself and his officers were ample and sufficient, there was no reasonable accommodations for the men, and consequently he would no consent to allow the regiment to go on board. The boys received the explanation with a shout, and the troops, their baggage and camp equipments came back to the wharf, and the soldiers took quarters in one of the large storehouses on the wharf. Colonel Shepley is entitled to the thanks of the regiment for his promptness in refusing to allow his men to go on board a vessel in the condition of this one.

☞ The ladies of Fort Fairfield have been making liberal donations of comfortable extra articles of clothing to Capt. Patten's company.

☞ Five hundred and forty one barrels of eggs were brought from St John in the steamer New Brunswick on Monday last.

☞ It is stated by the Houlton Times as a notable fact that the four eldest of the Trustees of the Houlton Academy, have each a son in the Volunteer Army, viz: Pierce, Cary, Ingersoll and Trueworthy.

The New York World states that seventeen mills employed by the Government in the manufacture of army cloth and blankets, have been destroyed by fire since the first of July. This either indicates a wonderful amount of accidents occurring in such mills, or shows that the emissaries of Davis are at work.

Floyd Driven out of Virginia. At the battle of McCoy's Mills, which took place about the 14th inst., two or three regiments of Floyd's troops were badly beaten and his army fairly driven out of Western Virginia. A letter to the Cincinnati Gazette, says that Floyd "has skulked drunk" on the west bank and has for four days past, in spite of "terrible intoxication"—there he has run about, rallied, and issued orders to his [illegible]

Words to the Gallant Three Hundred.—A splendid sabre or sword being made for a gold to present sword, medals or other testimonials to be given to each man of Fremont's body guard who took part in that brilliant and glorious charge and rout of the 2000 rebels at Springfield. The exploit has been rarely equalled either for bravery or success. Subscriptions are received at the Tribune office.

The Providence Journal says, "It is very hard for us 'black republicans' to keep up with the Breckinridge democrats on the negro question, as new phases of it are developed by the war; men who, a year ago were in favor of extending slavery to Rhode Island, now talk of abolishing it in South Carolina. Don't be too fast, gentlemen! Read the Liberator, and learn prudence; listen to Wendell Phillips, and be moderate."

A recent number of the Charleston Mercury contains the following conclusion to a "local," which might afford much food for reflection to the editors of that paper—if they ever indulge in such a mental process as that of reflection.—This was before the capture of Beaufort.

There are other important matters that have transpired, to which we do not think proper, just yet, to allude otherwise than vaguely. There is good cause to believe that, in addition to the usual blockading squadron, a large steam transport, freighted with Yankee troops, is hovering along our coast, but very far from this harbor. Some people who appear to know more than others, say that an attempt to effect a landing will very soon be made. Thanks to the energy of Gen Ripley, it is not likely that we shall have the mortification of chronicling any "Hatteras Affair," on the coast of this State.

The Tribune's Washington correspondent says that the soldiers at Beaufort and the slaves on the island will soon be picking the ungathered cotton. The former under plan order from the War Department, the latter upon the impulse of wages directed to be paid them by Gen. Sherman. It is also probable that the cultivation of the Sea Island for the next crop of cotton, will be contracted for with some responsible Yankee, who will be required to employ the slaves abandoned by their masters.

The North Carolina Prisoners at Fort Warren. The prisoners of war are, on the whole, a shabby looking set of men, or rather boys, for a majority of them are quite young—in dress they exhibited a wider contrast than did Fall-tail's regiment. Very many of them have never yet achieved a point in education sufficient to read the English language. One newspaper or book, therefore goes a great way. Secession talk is rampant among a portion, at least of the prisoners.

Slidell's Secretary. Mr. Eustis, Slidell's Secretary, who was captured with him, is a Massachusetts man, a descendant of Governor Eustis. He was formerly a Know Nothing member of Congress from New Orleans, and married the only daughter of Corcoran, the banker. He is a dashing blade. If he should take board with Col. Dimmick at Fort Warren, it would be somewhat in accordance with the Spanish proverb: "Cuzzel like chickens, come home to roost."

From the Correspondent of the N. Y. Evening Post.

Washington, Nov. 19, 1861.

The instructions given to Commodore Dupont were of such a character that it is quite possible that he may soon strike another blow at another important point. It is said that the government does not contemplate any immediate advance into the interior of South Carolina, but will secure Port Royal harbor and a good footing upon the shore, enough to form a base for military operations during the winter, if it should be considered desirable to push a column into the heart of the rebel country by way of South Carolina.

Scouts coming in from below Fairfax and the region of Manassas report that there is great uneasiness among the South Carolina and Georgia troops, and that they have demanded the privilege of returning home to defend their own State. The Confederate government perceiving in this demand the seeds of its own destruction, has instructed Gen. Johnston to deny the demand at every hazard. It is also evident that Johnston and Beauregard are unwilling to spare a regiment. They have not more than 80,000 troops within forty miles of Washington, and they are in hourly expectation of an attack by Gen. McClellan.

Whatever Gen. McClellan's purposes may be, it is a well ascertained fact that the rebels expect an early advance of the federal army upon Manassas. So far no troops have been spared from the rebel army of the Potomac except two or three regiments for Tennessee and lower Kentucky, where the rebels are in more desperate condition than at Manassas or at Beaufort. The cold weather occasions great suffering in the rebel army, especially among the troops which are from the extreme Southern States, and there is much discontent. The discipline is more stringent than has been represented.

A naval expedition is in course of preparation, of which the New York Journal of Commerce says:

"In addition to Burnside's and Butler's expeditions, the government is now fitting out a fleet of schooners for an entirely novel purpose, which can be executed at small expense and in perfect safety, and will damage the rebel cause quite as effectually as the largest and most imposing armada. This third expedition, proceeding under the convoy of one or two men of war, will require no armament, and will carry no military force, but only seamen to navigate the vessels, and laborers to perform work when the fleet has arrived at its destination. When the rebels see this fleet performing its mission, beyond the reach of successful resistance by them, they will be inclined to admit that it is useless to cope with the resources and expedients of the federal government." [This probably refers to the stopping up of certain rebel ports by the sinking of vessels.]

☞ Gen. Fremont is soon expected in New York, and the Germans of that city propose to give him a public reception. We feel friendly to the General and hope and believe that he will be able to vindicate himself from the main charges which have been preferred. We trust, moreover, that he will have the good sense, to decline a public ovation at this time.

Gen Sherman has changed the name of Fort Walker, on Hilton Head, to "Fort Walker," and that of Fort Beauregard, on Bay Point, to "Fort Seward."

A fleet of twelve or fifteen vessels, loaded with stone, sailed from New London on Wednesday, and will unite with the similar fleet sent from New Bedford.

"Now, my brethren," said a gallant captain, "there is much battle before you. Fight like sogers! Some will fall, some will run away, but the most will stand."

Beauregard's Offensive Policy will be carried out—A Valuable Shipment from Europe for the Rebels—Annual Message of Jeff. Davis—Departure of the Twelfth Maine Regiment.

NEW YORK, 23d

The Herald's Washington despatch says rumors are prevalent, and it is said on good authority that the general impression among the foreign diplomatic corps was that Captain Wilkes is perfectly justifiable, according to the international law in having arrested Mason and Slidell from the deck of a British vessel, and that England would be the last power to object to it in as much as no other nation has done more to resist all the principle upon which Capt Wilkes acted

A letter received here to day from Flag Officer Foote who has command of the flotilla which is to operate on the Mississippi, which states that he is making rapid progress and will soon have in readiness to proceed on its way

The Herald has a despatch says that Gen Havelock has been appointed inspector of Cavalry, an office which he filled in the British army

All the regulars on this side of the Potomac will be reviewed on Tuesday, at one o clock on the plain east of the Capitol, under command of Gen Andrew Porter

Lieut Russell who burned the privateer Judith under the rebel guns at Pensacola, arrived here today He will be appointed to the command of one of the new gunboats

The Herald's Baltimore despatch says General Dix received news yesterday that the disorganization of the rebel forces in the county of Northampton, Va, was complete The commander of the rebel forces, Col Smith was attempting to escape with some of his officers from the lower extremity of Northampton county but by the orders of Gen Dix flag officer Goldsborough had put the whole coast under close watch, so that their escape is very likely to be intercepted

The Times Washington despatch says such information has been received by the military authorities in Washington as renders it probable that an attack may soon be made upon the national lines by the rebels The quarrel between the rebel leaders as to the proper manner of conducting the war, is believed to have ended in the triumph of Beauregard, who represents an effective war party It is understood that he actually resigned, but was induced to withdraw his resignation, when his policy was adopted by Jeff Davis.

Six thousand stand of French rifled muskets arrived here yesterday, and are being distributed among the troops. Several thousand more are now in New York, and will arrive within a few days

ALBANY, N Y, 22d

Capt Comfort, of the French army, who served 11 years in Algeria has been, at the request of Gen McClellan, authorized to raise a regiment of Frank Tireurs The services are to be specially under the immediate command of the commander in chief

A northeast storm is prevailing this forenoon

FORTRESS MONROE, 22d

Several regiments have arrived from Baltimore and Annapolis within the last 24 hours — Old Point has assumed an unusually lively appearance Formidable preparations are making for active operations the theatre of which is unenclosed The ferryboats in Hampton Roads are being heavily armed

NEW YORK, 23d

The Herald has a letter from George Francis Train, dated London 9th stating that the Gladiator, one of the old Lisbon screw packets, the night before took aboard at Erith a few miles below London, a full cargo of arms and munitions of war and was to clear the next day for Teneriffe and Nassau The estimated value of the cargo is $600,000 and it comprises everything necessary for the equipment of 25 000 men The names of all parties concerned are given, as well as those of the captain and officers Mr Train communicated these particulars to Capt Marchand of the war steamer Adger, who is now on the watch for the Gladiator, and who recommends our cruisers to be on the lookout for her on this side

He says in addition that the English Government recently sold nine condemned sloops of war including the Canrsfort, to a party who disposed of them to the confederate navy department Besides these acquisitions the secessionists are in treaty for the Pampus and Osage, two East India men of war of 1800 horse power each We have here an explanation of the departure of such a large number of rebel naval officers on board the Nashville

WASHINGTON, 23d

The Richmond papers of Wednesday contain Jeff Davis message to the rebel Congress He says the operations of the army are soon to be partially interrupted by the approach of winter they have afforded protection to the country and shed lustre upon its arms through the trying vicissitudes of more than one arduous campaign which entitles the volunteers to our praise and gratitude

After more than seven months of war, the enemy have not only failed to extend their occupancy of our soil, but new States and Territories have been added to our Confederacy, while, in spite of their threatened march of unchecked conquest, they have been driven at more than one point to assume the defensive and upon a fair comparison between the two belligerents as to mere military means and financial condition the confederate States are relatively much stronger now than when the struggle commenced

He speaks in high terms of the people of Missouri, who have conducted the war in the face of almost unparalleled difficulties with a spirit and success alike worthy of themselves and the great cause in which the struggle

Finding the Confederate States were about to be invaded through Kentucky, and that her people, after being deceived into a mistaken security were unarmed and in danger of being subjugated by Federal forces, our armies were marched into that State to repel the enemy and prevent their occupation of certain strategetic points which would have given them great advantages in the contest— a step which was justified, not only by necessity of self defense on the part of the Confederate States, but also by a desire to aid the people of Kentucky

It was never intended by the Confederate Government to conquer or coerce the people of that State, but on the contrary it was declared by our Generals that they would withdraw their troops if the Federal Government would do likewise A proclamation was also made of our desire to respect the neutrality of Kentucky and the intention to abide by the wishes of her people as soon as they were free to express their opinions

These declarations were approved by me and I should regard it as one of the best effects of the march into Kentucky if it should give to their people liberty of choice and a free opportunity to decide their own destiny according to their own will

[The rebels have been remarkable for permitting the people to have 'free opportunity' to decide their own destiny!]

While he says the army has been allowed a full proportion to its means, he speaks of the difficulties attending mail transportation, some of which can be overcome only by time, the inclement weather and the impoverished condition of the country, and the restoration of peace but others by legislation.

As to the financial system, it has worked well so far, and promises good results for the future To the extent that treasury notes have been issued, the government has been able to borrow money without interest, and thus facilitate the conduct of the war This extent is measured by the field of circulation which these notes can be made to occupy

The proportion of the field thus occupied, depends again upon the amount of the debts for which they are received, and when due not only to the Confederate and State Governments, but also to corporations and individuals, are payable in this medium A large amount of it may be circulated at par

There is every reason to believe that the Confederate treasury note is becoming such a medium The provision that these notes shall be convertible into Confederate stock, bearing 8 per cent interest at the pleasure of the holder, insures them against depreciation below the value of that stock, and the considerable fall in that value would be feared so long as this interest shall be punctually paid

In the successful prosecution of this war, it is indispensable that the means of transportation of troops and military supplies be furnished as far as possible in such a manner as not to interrupt the commercial intercourse between our people, nor place a check upon their productive energies

We have already two main systems of through transportation from the North to the South—one from Richmond along the seaboard; the other through Western Virginia to New Orleans A third might be secured by completing a link of about forty miles between Danville, Va, and Greensborough N C

The construction of this comparatively short line would give us a through route from north to south, in the interior of the Confederate States, and give us access to a population and to military resources from which we are now in a great measure debarred

PORTLAND 23d

The steamship Constitution sailed at 5 o'clk this morning without the 12th Maine Regiment owing to a lack of accommodations and the Forest City will follow early this afternoon with the regiment, it having been chartered for that purpose

WASHINGTON, 24th

A few weeks ago the Secretary of War authorized Gen Wool to ascertain whether clothing and the other articles necessary to the comfort of U S citizens, now prisoners of war, could be sent to them The following letter shows that the consent for that purpose has been given

HEAD QUARTERS, DEPT OF NORFOLK, November 4th 1861

Sir I consider myself fully authorized to reply at once to the inquiring tenor of your letter of the 8th inst My Government will allow blankets and articles of clothing necessary for the comfort of prisoners of war to be sent to them, Every such article you may send to me will be promptly forwarded by the Southern Express Co, and money may be sent to pay the freight here, or it may be paid on delivery

BENJ HUGER Brigadier General,

Major Gen JOHN E WOOL

The principle of equity of the "right against the law, and will guarantee in return that Colonel Corcoran and the other officers now in the hands of rebels shall be treated by the rebels with the same consideration due to their rank and position as prisoners of war taken on the field of battle, according to the usages of all civilized nations.

The Government has also come to the determination to hang every prisoner duly convicted of piracy on the high seas, whether he hails from the North or the South, from England or any other foreign nation, and that they will hold the prisoners now in captivity, including Slidell, Mason and Faulkner, responsible for any barbarities which may be practised upon the prisoners of war confined in Southern prisons

The Herald's despatch says the 21st of November was appropriately observed by the 1st and 11th Massachusetts regiments, particularly the former, Lieut Col Wells commanding In his order for celebrating the day he observes that those who dare look death in the face and had not felt his sting, might well unite their voices with those of the loud ones at home while it was eminently fitting that the Potomac should vibrate with the same feeling which quivered on the Connecticut and Merrimac, and along the old Bay State The morning was mainly devoted to religious exercises Addresses were delivered by the Chaplain, Col Cousins, now commanding a brigade, Col Wells, Rev Mr Mason and Mr Fay, Mayor of Chelsea, who had come with a supply of good things for the company organized in that place There was scarce a tearless eye in all the regiments when touching allusions were made to home and friends, and as the springs of affection were touched, the all pervading sentiment was, that every man would go through fire and suffer death if necessary, to vindicate the government In the afternoon each company partook of a sumptuous Thanksgiving dinner, and afterwards engaged in various amusements A splendid supper was given in the evening by the line officers at which Maj Gen. Hooker and acting Brig Gen Cowdin were present

The speech of Mr Adams, the American minister, at the Lord Mayors banquet, attracted considerable attention He was silent as to the war but very pacific towards England The Daily News says it was frank, manly and reasonable, and must be cordially welcomed by England at large, especially as a small, but active faction is doing its uttermost to misrepresent American diplomacy, and create all feeling The Morning Post says the speech was marred by the most friendly statements respecting the feeling of the American government and people towards England, and hopes no occurrences will happen to retard these sentiments The times is characteristically sarcastic, but at the same time compliments any to Mr Adams

Lindley Murray and Yancey were present at the grand banquet of the Fishmongers Company of London Yancey responded to a toast for the restoration of peace in America. At the Lord Mayors dinner the Lord Mayor in proposing the toast of the diplomatic body coupled with it the name of the American Minister and at the same time assured him that this country had the sympathy not only of the city of London but the whole English people He also expressed a most ardent desire for speedy settlement of the pending difficulties

Mr Adams, the American Minister, who was most cordially received responded to the toast at length explaining in general terms upon the diplomacy and continuing for the present system of plain and straightforward negotiation great advantage over the trickery and falsehood of a bygone age, Mr Adams said

I may state I prefer this latter theory, on my coming in as a member of the Diplomatic corps but one I about hardly know how to act upon any other In America we are so used to speaking what we thought perhaps with so much freedom and I have got into such a habit of it, I should not be fit to come to play my part here I did were expected by my employers to say what I did not mean (Cheers) Permit me, then, to assure that my mission is not hostile and is to endeavor to continue and perpetuate the friendly relations that have so long existed between the two countries (Cheers) Indeed I see the strongest reason why they should never be changed (Cheers) To be sure there are many points on which we materially differ and it never will be to magnify them You do not appreciate our democracy we do not appreciate your institutions of rank You think us altogether too free and easy in our ways, we consider you too stiff and starchy All this may be, and yet why as the ocean broad ocean between us I see no reason why we may not indulge in our respective tastes, without risk of difficulty

On the other hand I perceive many and vast (cheers) Surely it must be remembered that, with only the exception of the last 80 years we claim to be joint heirs with you in all that is great and noble in your past history Every struggle for liberty whether civil or religious, is matters of pride for us as it is for you Magna Charta is a common land mark for us all. I feel that I turn to the field of literature or of science, where, I ask is there a great name in England which is not equally venerated in America? It was but the other day that I took a little trip to the banks of your little river Avon to visit the birth place of and the last resting place of your great poet, and there I found on the record of the Pilgrims who go to that shrine that a great proportion are from America. (Cheers) So among Philosophers we know no greater guide than Bacon, in science no higher authority than Newton, and if I may be permitted to come down to the limits of your own municipality of London, there is not a street, nor an alley, nor a lane which is not scrutinized with eagerness by my countrymen on account of their associations with persons and events of which they have read at home in the historical or the literary productions of the mother country (Cheers) Neither is there a page of heroism recorded here that does not elicit its tribute of applause in the remotest hamlet of the Western Hemisphere

I have myself met with the story of Grace Darling's courage struck up in the small public room of an inn, in an obscure American town So the example of your Florence Nightingale (cheers) has raised the ambition and stimulated the ardor of emulation of quite as many of my fair countrywomen as it has done of her own, and perhaps I may be permitted here to make an allusion to a higher character, so far as to say that through the breadth of the United States from sea to sea the name of her Majesty, the Queen, is held in the highest honor (cheers), not because she is a Queen, no, that is not the reason, for there have been many queens whom we do not admire at all, but because she is a pattern of a daughter, and an example of a wife as a mother, she yet rules also a christian sovereign over a noble people. (Loud cheers)

It is, then, a community of decent language of manners, of sympathy in all that is good and noble and true that teaches the lesson of harmony between that respective people. Others there, cannot but echo the sentiment with which the Lord Mayor did me the honor to accompany my name, and glancing around to the various points where I see the words inscribed along the walls, I say, also, "one here, peace there, and peace everywhere." (Loud Cheers.)

Lord Palmerston in response to a toast in honor of the ministry, spoke of the peaceful and happy state of England He alluded to the probable short supplies of cotton but hoped the evil would be attended with permanent good, by making the country no longer dependant on one source of supply

As regards foreign politics he said when we look abroad we see no doubt in many parts of Europe circumstances which it dealt with by prudence and discrimination may lead to local disturbance But I trust they will not extend themselves to bring within their range "hers" on the other side of the atlantic We witness with the deepest affection with an affliction which no words can express, differences of the most lamentable kind amongst those whom we call our cousins and relations, "hear" It is not for us to pass judgment upon these disputes It is enough for us to offer a fervent prayer that these differences may not be of long continuance and that they may speedily be succeeded by a restoration of harmony and peace "Cheers."

THAT HAS

Stood the Test of Years,

And grows more and more popular every day!

IT contains no nitrate, new, and stands without question, might be taken from ladies and gentlemen in all grades of society, whose united testimony must could refute, that Prof. Wood's Hair Restorative will restore the hair and beard, preserve the hair of the youth to old age, in all its youthful beauty.

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., Dec. 21, 1861.

Prof. Wood—There is no question in my mind but from the use of your Restorative my hair has from three inches and a half in length, and the gray locks caused by a complicated chronic disease, is entirely changed to its original color. After a tedious course of suffering, through the best of medical skill, I was induced to try your Restorative, and I am happy to say that it has far exceeded my most sanguine expectations. I have not been troubled with dandruff since I commenced using it, and my hair is now soft and glossy. I am confident that another large bottle would restore my beard entirely and permanently. I feel anxious to purchase any more, I would ask them if they were sold, or willing to send me an order on them. Again I ask you to accept my thanks, with the scripture declaration—the reward is to those that are kind to the widow and the fatherless.

My friend, SUSANNAH KIRBY.

LEBANON, Noble Co., Indiana, Feb. 5, 1859.

Prof. O. J. Wood—Dear Sir: In the latter part of the year 1856, while attending the State and Normal Law School of the State of New York, my hair from a severe attack of fever, commenced falling off very rapidly, so that in the short space of two months the whole upper part of my scalp was almost entirely bald and covering, and much of the remaining portion upon the back part of my head became gray, so that you could not by any means tell you that I ever had any hair. Upon my return to the State of Indiana my entire friends, acquaintance and so much as took notice of the change in my appearance, as my more intimate friends knew were in a measure astonished. I at once made application to the most skillful physicians in the country, but receiving no assistance from those that my hair could again be restored I was forced to become reconciled to my fate until, fortunately, in the latter part of the year 1857, your Restoratives was recommended to me by a druggist, as being the most reliable Hair Restorative in use. I tried one bottle, and upon the representation that it was producing the desired effect. Since that time I have used seven dollars worth of your Restoratives, and now remain happy in the possession of very soft black hair, which no money can buy.

As a mark of my gratitude for your labor and skill in the production of so wonderful an article, I do not recommended its use to many of my friends and acquaintances, who, I am happy to inform you, are using it with like effect.

Very respectfully yours, A. M. LATTA.

The Restoratives is put up in bottles of three sizes, viz: large, medium and small. The small holds 1-2 a pint, and contains the same delightful tonic, the medium holds at least twenty per cent more in proportion than the small, retails for two dollars per bottle, the large holds a quart, 40 per cent. more in proportion, and retails for three dollars per bottle.

HAIR RESTORATIVE

AND

BLOOD RENOVATOR,

Is precisely what its name indicates, for while pleasant to the taste, it is revivifying, schillerizing and strengthening to the vital powers. It also revivifies, reinstates and purifies the blood in all its original purity, and thus restores and renders the system unvulnerable to attacks of disease. It is the only preparation ever offered to the world in a popular form, to be within the reach of all. So chemically and skillfully combined as to be the most powerful tonic, and yet so perfectly adapted as to act in perfect accordance with the laws of nature, and begets not in the weakest stomach, and tone up the digestive organs, and allay all nervous and other irritations. It is also perfectly purifying to its effects, and yet it is never followed by lassitude or depression of spirits. It is composed entirely of vegetables and those combined having powerful tonic and soothing properties, and consequently can cause injury. Such a remedy has long been felt to be a desideratum in the medical world, both by the thoroughly skilled in medical science and also by all who have suffered by debility; for the needs no medical skill or knowledge even to see that debility follows all attacks of disease, and lays the wasted system open to the perils of many of the most dangerous diseases to which poor humanity is constantly liable. Such, for example, are the following: Consumption, bronchitis, indigestion, dyspepsia, nervousness, faintness, nervous irritability, neuralgia, palpitation of the heart, melancholy, hypochondria, night sweats, languor, lassitude, with all those diseases of a scrofulous nature, which are peculiarly fatal if unattended to in time, called female weaknesses and irregularities. All these, and many others, are the effects of too much or too little nervous or torpid energy, and liver complaints, diseases of the kidneys, shedding or smoothness of the urine, or any other derangement of the urinary organs, pain in the back, side and lower part of the stomach, predisposition to short colds, hacking and continuous cough, consumption, difficulty of breathing, asthma and indeed we enumerate many more still, but we have spoken enough, for it will not only cure the debility following typhus and typhoid fever, but prevent all attacks arising from Miasmatic influences, and even stop the disease at once, if already attacked. And as it acts directly and perseveringly upon the biliary secretions, arousing the liver to action, promoting in fact all the processes and secretions of the system, it will unfailingly prevent any deleterious consequences following upon change of all sorts and watery climates. Travelers should have a bottle with them, and all should take a table spoonful at least before eating. As it prevents cold sweats, stoppages, and all nervous derangements. Freeze of no one cause, it should be in the hands of all persons of sedentary habits—students, ministers, literary men, and all such as require a constitution to undergo much exercise should always use it. If they will, they will find an agreeable, pleasant, and efficient remedy against those ills which rob them of their beauty, health and strength, and without health, and health cannot exist while the skin remains in a constant state. Then again the nervous fluid is a perfect nutriment. Then again the nervous fluid is a perfect nutriment. Then again the nervous fluid is a perfect nutriment.

An elaborate treatise carrying out a daily proving the theory advanced is sent to be correct, with the sum of one dollar, inserted by the receipt of two 3-cent stamps. Blood Food is sold by all druggists, or where it cannot be had I will send a bottle, free of expense, for $1. Price, a single bottle, $1. It is put up in a wood in yellow wrappers—the old kind, in small bottles, in red wrappers having seen done away with—and bears the inimitable signature of Thurck & Co. next upon the face of the wrapper. Beware of counterfeits and imitations.

AYER'S

Sarsaparilla

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

And for the speedy cure of the following complaints:

Scrofula and Scrofula Affections, such as Tumors, Ulcers, Sores, Eruptions, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Blains, and all Skin Diseases.

CHICAGO, Ill., 20th June, 1859.

J. C. AYER & Co.: Gentlemen:—I used to my duty to acknowledge what your Sarsaparilla has done for me. For many years I suffered from Scrofula in the worst form. It broke out in ulcers on my face and arms; sometimes it would heal up, but more frequently it grew worse. I employed the best medical advice I could get, but it did me no permanent good. For years I was confined to my bed and could not walk. I was reduced to a mere skeleton, and my friends thought I could not live. I was induced to try your Sarsaparilla, and before I had taken a dozen bottles I was able to walk about. I have since been able to attend to my business, and have enjoyed good health. I have used your Sarsaparilla in my family for all diseases for which it is recommended, and it has never failed to cure. I have also cured many of my friends with it, who had been long afflicted with various complaints, and who had tried many other remedies without obtaining relief. I am confident that I have saved the lives of many persons by the use of your Sarsaparilla, and I shall continue to recommend it as long as I live.

Yours, truly,
ALFRED B. TALLEY.

St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Dropsy.

Dr. Robert M. Peebles writes from Santa Cruz, Jan. 13th, 1860, that he has cured many terrible cases of Dropsy, which the doctors pronounced incurable, by copious venesection and the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Malignant Erysipelas and the worst forms of Ringworm, Scald Head, Tetter and Salt Rheum, yield to the alterative action of this medicine.

Bronchocele, Goitre or Swelled Neck.

Zebulon Sloan of Prospect, Texas, writes: I am cured of a Goitre by Sarsaparilla and I do not think a tumor of the kind could be more completely removed. I had suffered with it over two years.

Leucorrhœa or Whites, Ovarian Tumor, Uterine Ulceration, Female Diseases.

Dr. J. R. Shannon of New York, writes that he has used Ayer's Sarsaparilla in his practice with the most astonishing success. Some of the cases of Leucorrhœa and Uterine Ulceration were of the most malignant and obstinate character, and had been pronounced incurable by eminent physicians. Nothing but the most thorough alterative could have met and conquered such cases. Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the only medicine we can rely on for these female derangements.

Dr. Edward Masters, of Newbury, Ala., writes: I have been using your Sarsaparilla in my practice, and with it I find I can control the remedies of the materia medica. I have no hesitation in saying that it is the best blood purifier we have. It is the only medicine that will thoroughly eradicate Mercurial disease from the system. It is the only reliable antidote for the effects of Mercury. It is the only remedy that will control the virus of Syphilis. Combined with the Iodide of Potassium, it will cure the worst case of Syphilis in a few weeks. Another advantage in using your Sarsaparilla is that it is pleasant to the taste, and does not nauseate the stomach. I have used many preparations of Sarsaparilla, but none of them contain enough of the active principle of the remedy to produce any decided effect upon the system. Your Sarsaparilla is the only one that does. I have used it in my practice in all forms of blood disease, and have never failed to cure when the patient would persevere in the use of your Sarsaparilla. I have cured with it Mercurial Rheumatism, Scrofula, Ulcers, Female Diseases, Dropsy, Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Ringworm, Tetter, Scald Head, Boils, Blotches, Pimples, Pustules, Tumors, Scrofulous Sore Eyes, Sore Lips, Mouth and Throat, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Heart Disease, Fits, Epilepsy, Melancholy, Nervousness, and Debility, when all other remedies had failed. I think it is the most valuable medicine we have.

Dyspepsia, Heart Disease, Fits, Epilepsy, Melancholy, Nervousness.

Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co.: I have been afflicted for years with Dyspepsia, Heart Disease, Fits, Epilepsy, Melancholy, Nervousness, and Debility. I have been under the care of the most eminent physicians, but I found no relief from any source. Some of them told me I could not live. Your Sarsaparilla has cured me entirely. I am now in the enjoyment of perfect health, and am able to attend to my business. I think it is the most valuable medicine in the world.

Yours, truly,
ALFRED B. TALLEY.

DR. J. K. LINCOLN.—Though we have not the pleasure of a personal acquaintance with the gentleman, yet we have reason to believe that he is a most skillful practitioner of the dental art. At least he has made one old face in our house look young again, and has fitted, by art, a pair of jaws to masticate the food again which came nature thot would last him a little too soon. We think the work and composition of the two full sets of teeth he has inserted cannot be excelled any where.
